Tasting Notes

We operate just about a mile out of Dry Creek in Sonoma so we know some folks out there who make some of the most important and expressive wines in the world. Our winemaker took his time with this wine, which is balanced as a top. Heck, I named it after my daughter so you know we love this wine.

As red as a vampire's lips this wine shows generous red fruit, fresh leather and soft spices on the nose. It is extremely smooth and lively on the palate with gobs of fresh fruit and layers of savory spices reminiscent of Thanksgiving. It goes down easier than a bronc rider on a saddle made of butter and is an absolute perfect summer red.
